

SWEATER COATS
Dr. Jaeger Pure Wool Coat
Sweater
Stanley & Jackson
Sole Agents 15 Jasper West

The Edmonton Capital

WATCH SPECIALISTS
Consulting regarding the condition of your timepiece or the purchase of a new one.
Johnson & Hubbs
129 Jasper West

Vol. I. EDMONTON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1910 No. 262.

Tories Meeting in Caucus || Crown Concludes Woods Case || Big War Scare in Europe

GERMANY SIDES WITH TURKEY AGAINST ENGLAND AND RUSSIA

Turks Are Preparing for Conflict With Russia
Over Division of Persia —England Wishes to Share

AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

If War Starts With Russia, England
Will Surely be Involved, it is Said in Official Circles

TROOPS CROSSED BORDER

Constantinople, via Philippopolis, Nov. 9.—Turkey is so busily engaged today in concentrating troops on the Persian frontier that her troubles with Greece have been temporarily put aside. There are even reports current here that the Sultan's cavalry has crossed into Persia. These reports are unconfirmed, but there is no question that Turkey will resist the plan of England and Russia to divide the Shah's kingdom between them.

Dispatches received here indicate that the scene of yesterday's fight between British and Persians was at Bir-i-istad instead of at Lingah, as was reported from Teheran. The engagement was between a force of marines from the British cruiser Prosperite and a body of Persians engaged in smuggling in arms to be used against the English.

Cables from London say news agencies there have endeavored to distort the story by the statement that it was fought in Baluchistan. The story is credited in official circles here. Though it is positively denied at the foreign office here, there is no doubt that in any move she may make, Turkey will have the moral support of Germany if not armed support. The Turks are preparing for an active campaign.

It is for war with Russia at first that the Turks are laying their plans, though it is believed that if war is started England is sure to be involved.

DEMOCRATS WILL RULE NEXT HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SWEET THE COUNTRY IN AMAZING STYLE—ROOSEVELT'S CANDIDATE IS DOWNED IN NEW YORK STATE ELECTION

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The securing of the control of the next House of Representatives by the Democrats was decisive. Returns show that they made gross gains of forty-eight members. This amount was offset however by Republican gains of five members, leaving the net Democratic gain of 43 seats. If the Democrats maintain their normal representation in districts which are still to be heard from they will have an ample majority. There is reason to believe that they will do more than maintain it, on account of the wave of sentiment in their favor which has been sweeping over the country.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—The new House of Congress will be composed as follows:

State	Dem.	Rep.
Alabama	9	0
Arkansas	7	0
California	9	0
Colorado	3	0
Delaware	1	0
Connecticut	3	0
Georgia	11	0
Florida	3	0
Iowa	3	0
Illinois	3	0
Indiana	3	0
Kansas	8	2
Kentucky	7	0
Louisiana	7	0
Maine	2	0
Maryland	2	0
Massachusetts	5	0

What Happened to Ted

FLY BURNING HOME IN NIGHT CLOTHES

Family of Colored Folks Had Unpleasant Awakening in Nanyo Avenue House

In the early hours of the morning Nov. 8, 708 Nanyo, occupied by Geo. Dodds, a colored man, and his family, was discovered to be on fire and the inside of the house was almost completely gutted. About twenty minutes past four Dodds woke up and discovered the room to be full of smoke with a strong smell of burning wool. He rushed downstairs to find that the house was on fire, the flames having started in the basement and crept steadily up until the smoke had awakened the sleepers.

There was little time to be lost as the fire had been burning for some time and the family were only able to save themselves in rather scanty clothing.

An alarm was immediately rung in and Nos. 1 and 3 stations immediately turned out. When they arrived they found the inside of the house burned out, all the furniture being destroyed. They quickly extinguished the flames, saving the shell of the house.

MR. BLIDE FOR VICTORIA

Victoria, Nov. 9.—Premier McBride has decided to sit for Victoria city and announcement will be made early this week that Yale seat is vacant and a by-election will be held before the close of November.

They Cut Queues

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 9.—In compliance with an imperial edict, Chinese Consul General Li Yung Yew and the entire staff of the local consulate appeared today without queues and attired as Americans, causing a mild sensation in the Oriental quarter.

MAILED FIST RULES SPAIN

Fifty Thousand Troops Sent to Back "Butcher of Cuba" at Barcelona

THREATENED DEATH

Any Attempt at Riot to be Quelled in Blood—Houses Raided and Socialist Literature Seized

GUNS GUARDING STREETS

Madrid, Nov. 9.—The mailed fist ruled Spain today to prevent an outbreak that would plunge the kingdom into a bloody reign of terror.

Barcelona, the seat of a most daring labor and revolutionary demonstration in the history of Spain's recent history, was an armed camp with machine guns trained on the streets, thousands of soldiers massed in the barracks and thousands of others patrolling the city.

More than 5,000 strikers from Sabadell marched into Barcelona to join with the strikers there for their display of hostility against the throne. Scores of arrests were made and sporadic outbreaks resulted in attempts by the soldiers carrying fixed bayonets. The prisons are filled.

Weyler Has 50,000 Men
Captain General Weyler, of Catalonia, "the butcher of Cuba," received 15,000 troops, bringing the total of his army to nearly 50,000 men to quell the revolt.

He issued a proclamation couched in the most bitter language this morning, declaring that any attempt to stir up revolt would be quashed in blood.

Houses were raided and great quantities of Socialist literature seized. The municipal guard broke up knots of strikers whenever they assembled in the streets.

Innocent Citizens Held Up
All persons were forbidden to carry firearms and many innocent citizens were held up and searched by the soldiers. Fear of a battle in the streets of the city, between the strikers and radical Socialists on one side and the soldiers on the other, kept the law-abiding people indoors. Many shops were closed.

Barricades were thrown up about some of the plazas, and artillery was parked at strategic points in the streets.

Planned a March
The labor leaders held a secret council early this morning and planned to march through the streets of the city despite the fact that this had been banned by the military and municipal authorities.

WOMEN AND YOUTHS RIOT

Cardiff, Wales, Nov. 9.—Wild scenes were enacted in the colliery district last night. Thirty thousand miners are out on strike and there is much disorder. Last evening bands of youths, supported by women, stoned buildings and looted stores in several towns. The police, who were reinforced during the day, attacked the mobs with batons and the rioters replied with showers of stones.

CHAIN OF EVIDENCE IS BEING WOUND TIGHTLY AROUND CLARKE WOODS

CROWN CONCLUDES CASE THIS MORNING—VERDICT EXPECTED BY THREE O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON

(Special to The Capital)

Red Deer, Nov. 9.—When J. L. Crawford for the crown closed his case against Clarke Woods, who is charged with the murder of Hector Murray, he had established by the evidence of over half a dozen witnesses that Woods struck H. Murray with a bottle, he had also endeavored to draw from the evidence of three doctors that Murray died from the effects of the blow, that is to say that he died from a clot of blood on the brain, caused by the blow.

The first witness who was called this morning was Dr. Graham, who made the autopsy upon the body of the dead man. A mild sensation was caused in court when the witness said that Hector Murray had suffered from locomotor ataxia which affected his gait. He further went on to say that Murray was not a man who could offer much resistance or fight to any great extent. Mr. MacGillivray subjected the witness to a grueling cross-examination and elicited the fact that the witness had stated at the preliminary hearing that Murray had died owing to the injuries to the cerebral artery. But the witness changed his mind when he testified this morning and agreed with the three doctors who had given evidence before him that Hector Murray had died from a laceration of the posterior branch of the middle meningeal artery. After calling Sergeant Tucker, the clerk of the court, to prove that the brain of the dead man had been in the custody of the court since the preliminary hearing, Mr. Crawford stated that he had no more evidence to offer.

Red Deer, Nov. 9.—It was almost noon before the court settled down to hear the Woods case, before the witnesses were turned out of the court and before the accused man really seemed to appreciate his position. When he pleaded not guilty he was almost debonair but as C. J. Crawford for the crown narrated the story of the crime with which he is charged to the jury, a hundred nervous looks crept into his fine black eyes and he sat huddled, motionless and attentive in the dock, behind which the red coat of the mounted policeman sat a vivid splash of red into the somberness of the court.

The crown case proceeds it becomes more lifeless and more sordid. The prisoner is alleged to have hit Hector Murray with a bottle. Hector Murray died seven hours afterwards and that is all. No more as far as Woods could get the magnificent sum of $155 when he wanted it. No fore interests the crowd, nothing but a sordid unnecessary crime which is alleged to have been committed.

The first witness was Walter Wood, bookkeeper of the firm of contractors of Holmes, Murray and Sharkey, with which Hector Murray was. He told the court, he Woods asked for his time, how he refused to stay on to work although pressed by the witness to do so. How Woods told him that he had up a load of hay and how after he refused to take the advice of Murray and to bring the hay in which he had used.

Mr. MacGillivray's cross-examination of this witness did not produce very much and when the court adjourned the jury had learned that the Mr. Woods, the witness, had left Woods, the prisoner, talking amicably. When the court reassembled this afternoon Mr. E. O. Marshall will relate how he saw Hector Murray die.

Afternoon Session.
When the court reassembled this

(Continued on page eight)

LEE TO BE THERE TO DEBATE POTTER

Mayor Lee has announced that he will be able to attend the meeting of the Municipal Improvement league tomorrow night, so his much anticipated debate with Mr. A. E. Potter, president of the league on the latter's railroad policy, adopted as a plank in the league's platform, will take place, and Mr. Potter will have the opportunity of putting the question, which he says will prove of considerable embarrassment to the chief magistrate. Mr. Potter will make the first address and the mayor will then reply.

During the evening, ex-Mayor A. Griesbach, a member of the league's executive will deliver an address on the objects and aims of the league. Thomas K. Wright will preside.

*****

TODAY'S MARKETS.

*****

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Wheat prices are steadily rising. Today's quotations are: Nov. 90¢, 90¢. Dec 90¢, 89¢. May 93¢, 94¢. Cash wheat, closed—No. 1 Northern op. No. 2, 88. No. 3, 84¢. No. 4 White Oats 34-35¢. No. 3 Barley 46¢. Flax 2-45.

CONSERVATIVES HAVE SOME TROUBLE TO FIND A LEADER

Town Faces Famine

Cerbere, Franco, Nov. 9.—Advices from Sabadell, Spain, say the town is stricken with famine as a result of the general strike, which has cut off supplies.

McCURDY TO FLY OFF OCEAN LINER

On Saturday He Will Carry Mails Off a Monster German Steamer

TORPEDO BOATS TO HELP

They Will Follow Aviator, Who Will Fly to New York Post Office

New York, Nov. 9.—A. D. McCurdy, the Canadian aviator for Clean II, Curtiss, will attempt an aeroplane flight from the deck of a vessel 50 miles at sea to Governor's Island on Saturday. He will leave port on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, of the Hamburg-American Line, which sails at 10 o'clock in the morning. The Navy Department will send two torpedo destroyers along to rescue McCurdy in case of accident.

The Curtiss machine to be used was dismantled at Belmont Park to-day and shipped to the Hoboken pier of the Hamburg-American Line.

Either McCurdy or Curtiss is expected to be there to superintend the building of a platform for launching the aeroplane. It was said the platform will be 100 feet long and will be built on the forward deck of the ship. The incline will have a drop of 10 feet above the water.

In launching the aeroplane the ship will be headed into the wind, and its speed will be regulated to conform to the wind, thus making the length or runway more than sufficient for rising. The Hamburg-American Line is making the test with the object of determining the feasibility of equipping its new liner, the 900-ton steamer Europa, the largest ship in the world, now under construction, with a regular aeroplane service for use in transporting mail and other purposes. Mr. McCurdy will carry when he leaves the ship a small waterproof mail bag containing letters from the passengers, which he will deliver at the New York postoffice.

Acting Secretary Winthrop, of the navy, yesterday issued orders that two sea destroyers of the Seventh division, now in the Hudson River, each

(Continued on page 5)

AN OUTSIDE COMPANY (SAYS JAMES K. CORNWALL) WILL BUILD A. & G.W.

Member for Peace River
To Lead Second Press
Party to North

J. K. Cornwall, M.P.E., returned from Peace River last night to attend the legislature, and says next summer he is going to escort another press party into the north country, but to a different section. The territory to be explored is along the Athabasca River, while in the course of the party's peregrinations they will touch a point, but 400 miles west of Fort Churchill.

"It will demonstrate to them the richness of that territory," said Mr. Cornwall, "and let them return and tell the truth."

During the course of a conversation with the Capital this morning, Mr. Cornwall commented the firm belief the C. P. R. would be the first to

Discussed Matter This Morning, But Arrived at no Conclusion by Noon

THE PRESS IS EXCLUDED

About Two Hundred Delegates Are Present and More Expected This Afternoon

Two hundred Conservatives met this morning in the Houston Hall next the Windsor block, to hold a convention for the purpose of choosing a leader. Dr. Brett of Banff did not arrive until nearly 10.30, therefore in his absence Mr. J. D. Flynn took the chair and the names of the delegates were taken. Delegates, there were from all over the province. Vireville was represented by Jas. McNeill, G. W. Walker and J. M. Cormack. Griesbach, J. D. Hyndman, Strathcona were all represented.

Amongst the leading Conservatives present were Dr. Pruet, George Headland of Okotoks, W. A. Morrison, Bett. Stony Plain, Lat. St. Anne, A. Williamson Taylor, J. F. C. Bown and numerous others. The hall was filled to its capacity and it is thought that this afternoon it will be necessary to move into the Separate school hall where there will be more room to meet the needs of the convention.

The convention this morning was kept strictly secret. The press were excluded, the reason for this given by a prominent Conservative being that they "did not want their opponents to print garbled accounts of the meeting." To make this policy effective a press committee has been appointed that will prepare the reports for the papers, and a censor who will supervise the matter before it is given to the press.

The only information that the Capital was able to gather this morning was the fact that the convention was not as yet decided on a leader but that they hope to do so this afternoon.

R. B. Bennett was not present. In fact he will not arrive in town till tonight, so it is to be supposed that nothing of a very fiery nature was perpetrated during this morning's session.

R.B.B. IS HERE

R. B. Bennett, esquire, M. P. P., blew into town today. "I'm a member of the legislature, just some up to attend the session," he said, expressing a favorite expression, when seen by the Capital, "and I'm sorry I cannot tell you anything more."

AN OUTSIDE COMPANY (SAYS JAMES K. CORNWALL) WILL BUILD A. & G.W.

Member for Peace River
To Lead Second Press
Party to North

J. K. Cornwall, M.P.E., returned from Peace River last night to attend the legislature, and says next summer he is going to escort another press party into the north country, but to a different section. The territory to be explored is along the Athabasca River, while in the course of the party's peregrinations they will touch a point, but 400 miles west of Fort Churchill.

"It will demonstrate to them the richness of that territory," said Mr. Cornwall, "and let them return and tell the truth."

During the course of a conversation with the Capital this morning, Mr. Cornwall commented the firm belief the C. P. R. would be the first to

THE DAILY CAPITAL

Office of Publication
37-39 HOWARD AVENUE, EDMONTON
WM. MACADAMS, Publisher
D. R. HAINES, Business Manager

TO SUBSCRIBERS:

Readers of the Capital are requested to favor the management by reporting any irregularities in delivery.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Daily, delivered by carrier in city..... $1.00
By mail to outside points, by year..... $3.00

The Daily Capital is on sale regularly at the following news stands:
Windsor Hotel, Alberta Hotel, Cecil Hotel, Castle Hotel, Olympia Cigar Store, Dominion Cigar Store, Central Cigar Store, Deacon's Cigar Store, Douglas Bookstore, Little's Bookstore, McKenzie Bookstore, Smith & Barker, First street.

CALGARY—Alberta Hotel
STRATHMORE—Strathcona Investment Co.

A DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE IN UNITED STATES

This is a Democratic year in United States. Returns from the elections yesterday show that the Republicans were hopelessly defeated in a great many states and districts which have heretofore been considered Republican strong-holds.

States like Iowa, Ohio, Massachusetts and Indiana going Republican indicate that the Republican party has lost, at least for the present, the popular support.

The issue was mixed. Insurgent Republicans demanded election that they might put out of the party forever the high-tariff regulars who were represented to be allied with the interests. Democrats appealed for support in order that they might follow the principles of their party and lower the tariff, and were answered by regular Republicans and Insurgents alike that they too were allied with the interests. All parties called loudly for a railway regulation act that would regulate, and each cast aspersions on the sincerity of the other.

It was an election in which politics made strange bed-fellows. Cannon and Roosevelt, for instance, both appealing to the electors as Republicans, and Beveridge and LaFollet also claiming to be fighting under the Republican banner, left a good deal of doubt as to who were the real Republicans, while such Democratic champions as Murphy's man Dix in New York and Foss in Boston left a considerable doubt as to what manner of man was required to fill the prescription which makes a Democrat.

The whole fight showed the necessity of a new alignment.

After all, there are only two parties in any country, the Radicals and the Conservatives. United States has been so long without a shake-up that many Radicals have been born in Republican homes and environment and the heritage of family politics has kept them voting the ticket, while many men whose predilections are more conservative than the reactionary Republicans, are found voting the Democratic ticket.

That a new alignment will come in the near future is one of the things most clearly demonstrated by the elections of yesterday. It may come by the elimination from both parties of the men who are not in sympathy with those parties, or it may come by the formation of new parties. But it certainly will come.

ROOSEVELT BEATEN TO A FRAZZLE

The Roosevelt nominee was beaten in New York by a coalition of the "malefactors of great wealth" with the Tammany machine.

When Roosevelt went out four years ago to club into submission the factors of the Republican party who were responsible for the robber tariff and the trust legislation he laid the foundations for the defeat which overtook his candidate in the Empire state.

By a curious combination of circumstances, Roosevelt was made to suffer for the sins of the very men with whom he was fighting and they did not appear in the fight except to furnish from out their wealth the finances to sinew the campaign.

It was a combination of the interests and the Tammany machine.

The Democrats in their campaign oratory saddled Roosevelt with the responsibility, as a Republican, for the Payne-Aldrich-Cannon tariff and the high cost of living. They used the money of the interests to finance a campaign in which they claimed to be the Simon-pure tariff reformers.

The people in New York found the issue so clouded that there was really nothing to vote for except for or against Roosevelt, and the greatest tribute that could be paid to the fighting leader is that in a year of Democratic victory he held the state of New York so close for his nominee.

Roosevelt was beaten to a frazzle alright enough, but it is doubtful if any other Republican, especially a high tariff Republican, could have been exhumed with a steam shovel had Roosevelt been out of the campaign.

THE ELECTIONS AND THE TARIFF ISSUE

In the election which took place in the United States yesterday Canadians are only interested in so far as the returns may be considered to affect the tariff issue.

The fight in New York was not really a tariff fight.

But down in New England, where Tammany does not rule and where there was no sub rosa alliance between the Democrats and the interest-representing Republicans, the issue was clear cut and well defined and the electors had an opportunity to make a choice without danger of misconception.

Foss, who was once a Republican and who left the Republican party because he saw no hope of effecting a reduction of the tariff from the inside of that party, is the man whose fight should show the trend of feeling in New England.

The interests who were out to slaughter Roosevelt were just as anxious to put Foss among the political has-beens.

Foss received 55,000 votes in the city of Boston against his Republican opponent's 27,000, a plurality never before recorded by the Democrats in that city, and in 118 polls outside the city there was only six votes difference between Foss and Draper, a stump for the Republicans the like of which has never been recorded in New England before.

Foss used as the slogan of his campaign: "Treat Canada Decently."

The conclusion is obvious. Even in industrial New England where the protection spirit is supposed to be rampant the high tariff is unpopular and the desire for freer trade with the world, Canada in particular, has asserted itself so strenuously that it cannot longer be denied.

The day of the prohibitive tariff in United States will not last longer than the next meeting of congress, and the day when the great American republic will offer to the Dominion an opportunity to trade on a basis founded on fairness is right here now. The tariff delegates who are meeting the government at Ottawa this week will be as susceptible to the message as any of the politicians in the United States of monopoly.

THE ELECTRICIANS' AND THE COMPENSATION ACT

In their controversy with the city solicitor over the question of the city's responsibility for compensation for the death of Robert Jones, fireman, who was killed by coming in contact with a light wire while working at the top of a pole on First street a month or so ago, the electricians seem to have all the best of it on moral grounds, and if they have not the best of the argument on legal grounds it proves nothing except that the law should be changed.

Furthermore, the electricians have shown good judgment in going right to the man who made the law to find out where they stand. If the ex-attorney-general cannot show them where the law covers the case he will probably be able to show them a law that will.

Morally, the city, in undertaking to repudiate the claim on a technicality, is taking a stand which should be beneath the dignity of a community such as the city of Edmonton.

There can be no question about the spirit of the Workmen's Compensation act. It was framed with the intention of making the industrial institutions carry their own risk. An electric light plant is certainly an industrial institution and the wiring a part thereof, while electrocution is undoubtedly one of the risks. It would have looked much better had the city insured its employees to provide against such accidents rather than to have looked for loopholes in the law after the accident had occurred.

Legally, it is very doubtful if the city solicitor—or any other individual soliciting—is competent to give an extemporaneous verdict regarding the city's responsibility which would be found infallible by the higher courts.

The Compensation Act is the result of years of legal upbuilding and judgments covering it are governed by precedents established by the highest courts in the land—not on single points but on all points.

The question is evidently one for the trial of a stated case. If the city solicitor's opinion is found to be the correct interpretation of the law, then change the law. If his opinion is found to be faulty, then let the city gracefully pay the balance of the compensation in this case and insure its employees against other such accidents.

GETTING THERE.

(From the Detroit News.)

It may cost 33 per cent. more to live in the United States than in Canada, as Congressman Foss of Massachusetts says, but they don't know how to live. Why, they haven't got more than five or six trusts, and they haven't enough Morgans, Carnegies, and Rockefellers to raise the price of half the necessities of life. But they're coming along. They've got a tariff that is modeled on ours.

THE CALL OF THE LAND

("Besides this there is a question of encouraging immigration from London, England." Capital of Nov. 7th.)

Ye ask of our Western people
Who are but scattered and few,
If our land, that hath called for many,
Hath need of the like of you.
And this is the answer we give you,
"Unhated, unerring and strong—
It is not the people who call ye,
But the land that hath called so long.

Yet, men yourselves is the question
Which only yourselves can decide;
Have ye lost, in the heart of the city,
The craving for something beside?
Have ye lost the wild freedom of Nature—
The wild Viking blood of the Main—
The blood that brought Hawkins' and Raleigh's
To answer the tawantings of Spain?

Has ever the savor of your factories
Obscured any longing ye had
For a life that gave promise of freedom
From all the unwholesome and bad,
The smoke, and the din, and the squalor—
The crowding that God never meant?
If not, ye may listen to Nature—
For to you has her message been sent.

Yet not woe you is it only.
For the Land—our people—
Hath called
"This open. I lieh before ye
Unturned, and unfiled and unvalued.
Have ye strength of the hands for the labor?
If not, it were better by far
To stay 'mid your sordid surroundings—
To ever remain as you are

Yet, who's is willing to prosper
By giving his hand to the toil.
Will not want the hand-grip of welcome
From those who are used to the soil.
That hand may be rough from exposure
To wind, and to sun, and to rain
But 'tis honest—the hope that it gives you,
The Freedom conferred by the Plain.

From the steppes and the tundras of Russia
Where the snow drifts crisply and dry,
From the shores of the wind-swept Baltic
With the white waves breaking on high,
From the narrow fiords of the Norse-land,
From river and vine-spread vale,
Come those who were tired of the old things
And thickened a New-World tale.

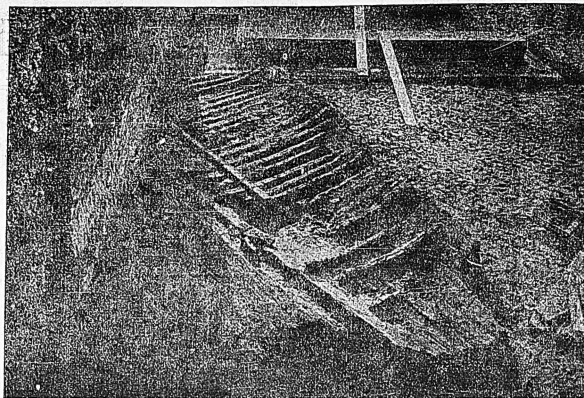

They come not—these—from a plenty,
Tho' their lands were fruitful in yield:
The harvest they found for a master
Lay cut in a lordling's field.
They drew but a dole, of a haughty—
A pitance ungraciously spared.
Peasants have murmured and murmured—
But what of the peasants who dared?

The Slav, he is sullen, untutored—
The Magyar uncouth, when repelled—
The Teuton was plodding, unhelpful,
When despoils his heritage held;
But give them the width of the new lands,
The hope to compete with our best,
And out of the strong will come sweetness—
A strength that will quendon the West.

If ye, that are anxious, are ready—
Then question yourselves and make sure
Have ye been thro' the fires of affliction?
Do ye know what it is to be poor?
Can ye give up the old life behind you,
And cheerfully look to the new?
Then listen—the New Lands are calling,
And this is their message to you.

There are fiords and marks for the Norseman;
For the Scot, there is mountain and glen;
For the Russ, there are far-reaching prairies,
And, for some, there is moor-land and fen;
And ye, that are men of old England,
Must ye question the brand that we need?
Have ye need to enquire what your land must bring forth,
If ye come of the old British breed.

ROBERT T. ANDERSON,
Edmonton Nov. 8th 1910.

FIND ROMAN BOAT.

A Roman boat, more than 1,600 years old has been found on the south side of the river Thames. It was uncovered by workmen while excavating for the new county hall, and is the first genuine Roman boat ever discovered in Britain, it is said. Some years ago a flinker boat of King Alfred's time was unearthed at Walthamstow. Viking craft have been found in various parts of the kingdom.

Archæologists are aroused over the Roman boat and the local government committee of the London county council will house the precious craft, temporarily, near the Hermitage museum, in a building of the Dutch barn type. Ultimately it will be housed in a site near the new county hall.

The old boat, which is of oak, is about fifty feet long and sixteen wide. Several articles were found in the vessel, including some shreds of Roman pottery, bones, iron nails, glass gaming buttons, iron studded shoes of shoes, a coin of Trajan in Gaul, of the period 108-112, A. D., a coin of Carausius in Britain, which is said by the keeper of coins in the British Museum to be on date of 290 or 291, A. D., and a coin of Allectus, in Britain of the era of 293, 296, A. D. The boat is said by experts to have been built at the end of third or the beginning of the fourth century, A.D. Dr. C. H. Reid, keeper of the department of British Museum, says the ship is in a state to be preserved. The studding shore soles are supposed to have been worn by the slaves who sailed the boat. No oars have been found or any evidence of cargo. It may have been a pleasure craft for the Roman Governor, and as such sunk at the piers in front of his place on the Thames.

SAD NEWS FOR SAFE CRACKER

A material That Resists the Acetylene Blow Pipe Demonstrated in England.

Washington, Nov. 9.—A sad blow is in store for the safe cracking industry as a result of the discovery of a material that will resist the acetylene blow-pipe. In police and military circles it has been an accepted fact that when a burglar had an opportunity to apply the fierce flame of the blow-pipe to any kind of a safe the locking thereafter was a matter of a few minutes only.

The way the blow-pipe burglar is to be foiled is told by the United States consul, Albert Halsted, stationed at Birmingham, England. In describing a test made to prove the qualities of the acetylene defying material Mr. Halsted says:

A safe door section had been built of two sheets of half-inch steel, with a layer of the resisting material between. A drill was employed first, but while it easily made its way through the outer casing of steel, it failed to make any impression on the inner filling and when withdrawn, after five minutes' application, all the edge had gone.

Next the acetylene blow-pipe was brought into play, the cone of intense light giving a heat of 6,300 degrees and exerting a pressure of fifty pounds to the square inch. Almost at once the steel covering became incandescent. Then came a shower of white hot particles and the metal began to bubble like a miniature crater. But as soon as the outer steel had been burned away and the inner material had been reached the blow-pipe "back fired" and was extinguished. The material, in fact, proved absolutely invulnerable, and when the blow-pipe was examined the cone was found to have been completely barred away.

A want ad in the Daily Capital today will "turn into money" something that is worth money—even if "second-hand."

CHAMBERLAIN

1/4 SIZES

Zooke

COLLARS

wear like iron—are flexible—adjust themselves to the neck—and have generous tie space.

They fit — 2 for a Quarter

Sold by leading Men's Furnishing Stores.

Today
2.30 to 5.
Tonight
7.15 to 11.

STARLAND

THE FAMILY THEATRE

LATEST
CREATIONS

EVENTS
OF EXHILARATING
FASCINATION
TODAY

COMING
CHAMPIONSHIP
BASEBALL SERIES
Philadelphia and Chicago

BIJOU THEATRES

The only Theatre in Edmonton regularly exhibiting any first run, new films

The only Theatre in Edmonton regularly buying and importing films direct

Programmes Change Twice a Week—Monday and Thursday

McDougall Avenue

PROGRAMME

DAVY JONES'S PARROT.

Viagraph.

INDIAN BLOOD.

Lubin Feature.

LATEST ANIMATED

GAZETTE

Imported Direct.

And Other Pictures

First Street

PROGRAMME

BETTY'S PRANKS

Comedy.

BACK TO NATURE

Feature Story.

MANON

Short Story.

And Other Pictures

MATINEE 2.30 to 5 p.m.

EVENINGS 7.30 o'clock

Admission 10 Cents—Children in Afternoon 5 Cents

BIJOU THEATRES

ORPHEUM THEATRE

Buffalo Bill & Pawnee Bill's

Great Historical Wild West Shows

TODAY! TODAY! TONIGHT!

Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East Shows.

3000 Feet Moving Pictures

Just as you saw Buffalo Bill when you were a boy, you'll see him now. Bring your son. Let him in the man millions worship as the greatest Indian fighter the world has ever known. This is your life-time opportunity. You owe it to yourself and to the youngster who should appreciate the great and only Buffalo Bill. Mothers, Daughters and Sweethearts will find these pictures highly interesting and instructive.

Special bargain matinees for three days only for the ladies and children. 5c. Evenings as usual loc. Doors open at 2 p.m. and quarter to seven.

ELITE THEATRE

First St. Opposite Clara.

The Padre's Secret.

Mr. Dolightly's Adventure.

Comedy.

Smuggling Up-to-Date.

Comedy.

A Game for Two.

Saturday Matinee 2.30.

Evening Show 7.30.

LYCEUM THEATRE

Mon., Tues., Wed., 7th, 8th, 9th

The Great Max

(King of Handcuffs)

Also the MUSICAL COMEDY

"The Maid and the Mummy"

Prices 25c & 35c

DREAMLAND

554 JASPER EAST

General Admission 10c

The Little Vixen (Pathé)

Driven to Steal.

Reels for music.

The Wren Road (Pathé)

Three Hearts.

And Other Pictures.

Matinee 2.30 to 5.

TWO CANDIDATES RAN FROM OFFICE

Hoosier Nominees for Justice
Made Great Speeches for Each Other

NEITHER WANTED JOB

So They Extolled Their Opponent's
Virtues and Railed
Against Themselves

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 9.—A rather amusing state of affairs developed here in connection with election for justice of peace yesterday. The office had to seek out the man, and finally caught him and pinned to his coat the insignia of office. Isaac Duddleston is "it."

Isaiah Duddleston, Republican, and Joseph Zehner, Democrat, were the two candidates for justice, and each conducted a red hot campaign—to elect his opponent.

There is almost no money in the jobs of justice, and each nominee has business interests which would suffer if he were elected. Therefore each made stump speeches several times a day setting forth the virtues of his opponent and declaring his own unfitness to hold the office.

Zehner was the first to take the stump for his opponent, but Duddleston followed so closely on his heels that it was a perfect start.

Democrat Sounded Keynote
"I did not wish the nomination, but it was forced on me by my fellow Democrats," Zehner said in his "key-note" speech. "I am here tonight to urge the election of my opponent, Isaac Duddleston. I haven't any use for the Republicans myself, and I think the office of justice of the peace in this township would be a fit punishment for any one belonging to this party. If Isaac Duddleston is elected to this office, the Democrats will gain one more vote the next election."

"I am not fitted for the office, and have not the time to give it to or to take care of the money that I would get out of it. Since my party nominated me for this office it ought to be beaten and beaten hard. The only punishment fit for the convention that named me for the office is the election of my dear opponent, who does not desire the office, Isaac Duddleston."

A few inches later Duddleston appeared before a meeting of his fellow townsmen for an address. The audience was one of the largest that a political meeting ever attracted, as the curiosity of the voters had been sharpened by the remarks of Zehner.

Said He Knew No Law
"What would I know about administering the law?" Duddleston asked. "The answer is, 'Nothing.' I am against Democrats as such, but in this instance I desire to say that I am ready to leave my party and vote for a Democrat. Any golden party that didn't have any more sense than to nominate me for the position of justice ought to be beaten by a man like Zehner, even if he is a Democrat."

The two candidates started noon meetings, speaking to any sized audience they could draw, and railing against themselves and extolling their opponents. Evidently Isaac didn't lower himself sufficiently to escape the penalty of office.

At the Orpheum.
The real "Buffalo Bill" a show to be remembered and at popular prices should not be missed by young or old. The boys will enjoy it and applaud as never before at any picture show in Edmonton. The drilled Devil's Zanzaves have no equals and are worth the full price alone. The show is drawing a full house and needs no extra comment. See it and tell your friends.

Concert Direction G. H. S. 1910-Season-1911
Kocian
The Renowned Bohemian
VIOLIN VIRTUOSO
Edmonton, Sat. Dec. 17th
In only one
GRAND CONCERT
Under the patronage of The Edmonton Ladies' Musical Club, supported by Herr Maurice Eisner, distinguished German Pianist, and others.
The plan of reserved seats opens Dec. 1st at Harmony Hall, the Geo. H. Suckling Weyers Rooms, for the "Quality tone piano" of Nordheimer, Steinway & Sons, Lansdowne and Haines Bros.

THE BRITISH NAVY SCORES ONCE MORE

New Thirteen Inch Gun Has Changed Whole Outlook of Construction Plans

GERMANY HAS NEW SCORE

Depreciation in Price of Consuls
Was Caused by Fear of Loan

London, Nov. 9.—Rumors of an impending naval loan of $250,000,000 were the chief cause of the depreciation of consuls last week to the lowest price reached since the panic of 1847, when the bank act had to be suspended. Then, however, they carried 3 per cent. interest as compared with 2 1/2 per cent. now.

There apparently is not much foundation for the reports of a naval loan, and according to a statement made in the Daily Telegraph there is not likely to be immediate necessity for an increased English shipbuilding program.

Just as England created world-wide surprise five years ago by laying down a dreadnought embodying all the big gun principles and caused practically all the naval shipyards in the world to stand idle while their plans were amended, so now again the British naval constructors get ahead of their rivals with the new thirteen inch gun which is being amended in the newest dreadnoughts. This gun throws a 1,250 pound shell, whereas the twelve inch weapon with which original dreadnoughts were armed takes only an 850 pound shell.

Naval Outlook Is Changed
The whole naval outlook may be changed by the secrecy which the British admiralty has preserved regarding the new weapons. It was not until August that it became known the admiralty had placed orders for a number of thirteen inch guns and mountings for all the new vessels of the dreadnought type under construction.

This development has surprised Germany. As soon as word of the change in the British policy was received there the preparations for the construction of four dreadnoughts which were to carry twelve inch guns were suspended with a view to reconsideration of their armament. Consequently the relative naval strength of Great Britain and Germany was seriously affected.

Today England possesses ten dreadnoughts completed and will have twelve by April next, when Germany will have five in commission. Mr. Asquith's computation that April 1913, would see Great Britain with twenty-five and Germany with twenty-one dreadnoughts will not turn out correct.

Critical Period Postponed
This critical period, which so much dread has been expressed in England, cannot be in 1913. By accelerating work Germany may complete twenty-one dreadnoughts by April, 1914, at which date the British fleet will possess twenty-five vessels plus those in next year's naval program.

The Daily Telegraph's naval correspondent concludes:
"We have the benefit of a temporary lull, but it is only temporary. The crisis is postponed, but the crisis will come."

Claimed Damages.
J. J. Green of 1225 Griesbach street claimed damages in the district court yesterday under the Workmen's Compensation Act for injuries sustained by an accident on June 15th last.

While operating a punching machine his arm was caught and he was crushed, a strip of tissue being torn right out. He was incapacitated for work for five weeks and three days, and since going back to work has been able to earn only 20c per hour, a little more than half his previous scale of wages. He had applied to the Edmonton Iron Works for a lighter job and been refused nor had he received from them any compensation for his 220m pounds damage and 40m for full wages up till the time when he was 20c per hour for a lighter job.

His Honor Judge Taylor was not at all satisfied as to the permanency of the injury of which there was absolutely no evidence but awarded $800 and costs for injuries received.
Mr. Newell of Emery Newell and Bolton appeared for the Mr. Green and Mr. Colleson for the respondents.

Supreme Court.

The case of McPhee vs. Dan Baker was continued in Supreme court yesterday afternoon. Baker the defendant a sub-contractor on the G. T. F. was called on to testify. His evidence showed that previous to McPhee securing a hay permit from the government, he had been given a permit by Dr. McInnis to cut hay on his timber limit No. 1092. He had protested to McPhee against the latter cutting on McInnis' land but had never intended to avoid settling for the hay. He had taken some eleven or twelve tons of the hay cut by McPhee for which he had been arrested and tried in Edmonton last winter. For this prosecution he is suing for damages. A map was produced showing the land in dispute and though sadly out of proportion it was only a rough sketch and not intended to be relied on.

The limit in question was held by Mr. John Wakers in trust. When asked by Mr. Ewing how it came to be so he refused to answer.

When the lease was produced to him for inspection Judge Stuart forbade any comment on it.
"I will settle the matter of the interpretation of the clauses of the lease myself. I don't care what Dr. McInnis' opinion is."

Windsor Hotel Sold.

This morning the Windsor Hotel at the corner of First street and Jasper, changed hands for the sum of $32,000 cash. The purchaser is Mr. J. A. Beauchamp, owner of the Strathcona Hotel and until a month ago proprietor of the International Hotel.

Two years ago Mr. Barber purchased the Windsor and many improvements were made until the house accommodation lately has been taxed to its limit. Mr. Barber and Mr. Thompson his manager, will leave shortly for Winnipeg, where they will enter into business. Mr. Thompson will be associated with the Rogers Realty company in that city.

Why let that headache spoil your day's work or pleasure? Take

NA-DRU-CO HEADACHE WAFERS

25c. a Box at your druggist's.

Guaranteed to contain no morphine, opium or other poisonous drugs, by the 30 National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. Montreal.

LA FLECHE BROS.

Edmonton - Strathcona

ANNOUNCE

THEIR new shop in Strathcona. It will mark a new epoch in men's apparel for the city. We want you to look upon this establishment as a place where you can procure the Best Suit of Clothes or Overcoat in Canada, made of the Best Fabrics and in the Latest London and New York styles.

118 Jasper W.
Edmonton

218 Whyte Ave.
Strathcona

"Satisfaction or No Sale"

MODERN LIFE WOULD BE TOO HARD ON THE NERVES IF IT WERE NOT FOR WANT ADVERTISING!

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace of mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore to him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the want ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for us.

Truly, the want ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

INSANE PATIENT PENS PRIZE POEM

Woman for Sixteen Years in Minnesota Institution Gets $50 for Verses

IN LIEU OF TRIP ABROAD

Writes Best Verse When She Is Under Spell of Strange Delusions

(St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9.—Minnesota has poet, or rather a poetess, who has achieved a measure of fame and fortune despite the fact that for sixteen years she has been an inmate of a state hospital for the insane.

Some time ago a magazine offered a prize for the best literary contribution to be submitted within a certain time. The winner was to be presented with free transportation to Europe and return.

Among those who entered the contest was a woman, a member of a well known Minnesota family. So excellent was her effort considered that the prize was awarded to her.

Give $50 in Lieu of Trip.

When the editors of the magazine learned who she was, and that because of environments she would be unable to take advantage of the prize she had won, they sent her a check for $50.

The woman is Miss Betty Chy, committed in 1894 from Ramsey county to the Rochester asylum. At times she is perfectly rational and has full possession of her faculties. Her delusions are of the sporadic type and is accompanied by wild delusions.

It is said that some of her best verse has been written while under the spell of these delusions. Her descriptions are vivid and uncanny, although charming. She seems to have the faculty of keeping the hallucinations of her delusions without losing her mental powers and gifts. She is well educated and refined.

Commissioners Meeting.

Authority was given Dr. Whitelaw, medical health officer, by the city commissioners yesterday afternoon to procure a proper register wherein to keep a proper record of the vital statistics pertaining to Edmonton alone. Dr. Whitelaw appeared before the commissioners and pointed out the necessity and durability of such action in view of the fact that in part no accurate information could be obtained, the records kept by St. George, Jellicoe, the official registrar and the government registrar did not apply to Edmonton alone and frequently the age of the deceased and cause of death was not given, all of which made it difficult for the health department to compile an accurate and complete record of births, marriages and deaths, occurring in the city.

A batch of vouchers aggregating in amount $18,000, representing incidental expenses incurred by the Fielding expedition were considered and finally submitted to the city engineer for report.

G. P. Blythe signified his intention to appear before the council at the meeting tonight, and ask permission to close the hoise for the winter months in accordance with the annual custom. The Edmonton Concrete company advised the city that four cars of sewer pipe, to replace the pipe consumed in the sewerage system, were now on their way to the city. In the meantime there are quite a few drains open in various parts of the city awaiting the pipe, and which should be closed on account of the weather. It was decided that the best pieces of pipe among the considerable consignment should be used for closing up some of the drains.

Commissioner Brouillon suggested that an agent for the city should be appointed to act in the east in the supervision of the machinery used by the city. By such an action, unnecessary delays in shipments could also be guarded against. Mr. Brouillon gave as an instance of delay the two street cars now under order with the Ottawa Car company. As a result of the suggestion appointment will be made.

We ask that you give us a fair trial, before we that we can make you a satisfied customer. The Edmonton Drive Co., Ltd.

"GOOD NIGHT."

The result of yesterday's elections in the States will tend to snuff out Speaker Joe Cannon.

SUN LIFE TAKES OVER COMPANY

It Will This Week Absorb the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Company

MILLIONS IN POLICIES

It Is Said the Royal Victoria Has About Four and Half Millions Written Up

Montreal, Nov. 9.—Negotiations for the absorption of the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Company by the Sun Life Insurance Company are far advanced, and it is expected that the absorption of the Royal Victoria by the larger concern will be finally effected this week.

The cause of this step is that the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Company has decided to go out of business. No definite statement could be obtained at the offices of either company this morning, but a prominent official of the Sun Life stated that the deal meant that the Sun Life would take over some four and a half million dollars worth of policies now in force in the Royal Victoria.

The head office of the Royal Victoria Company is in Montreal.

FAMOUS HOPE BLUE DIAMOND MAY COME TO THE UNITED STATES

Gem Owner Reported Lost by Shipwreck Turn Up for Sale in Hands of London Jewellery Firm.

London, Nov. 9.—Some American may get the famous Hope diamond, one of the largest and most beautiful gems in the world. It has come into the open market again and has been inspected in London this week by several prospective buyers.

The present owners are a well known firm of jewelers, and are offering it for sale for $400,000. It is understood, although it was once sold for $400,000.

The diamond is dark blue in color and about the size of a walnut. It is said to be the only one of its kind in existence, smaller ones of a similar color being supposed to be pieces of it. Should it go to America, it will cost an additional 10 per cent. of its value as import duty.

According to a member of a Hamilton, Garden firm, diamonds now are dearer by 25 per cent. than they were in 1908 when, in consequence of the American financial panic in the previous year, the demand fell off to such an extent that many diamond brokers did practically no business. Ever since the price has been rising steadily, and the diamonds and small diamonds are chiefly affected. The price of medium sized stones still is low, in consequence of discoveries in Germany and Southwest Africa.

The high price of small diamonds is due to the fact that jewelers are using them more largely than ever for decorative purposes on chateaux, bangles, chain purses, pendants, wristlets, miniature frames, and similar articles.

HOOKWORM RAM.

PANT IN SAMOA

Eighty-five Per Cent. of Inhabitants of American Islands are Suffering From the Disease

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Eighty-five per cent. of the inhabitants of American Samoa are suffering from the hookworm disease, according to the report of Capt. E. Parker, U. S. N., retired, governor of the American Islands. This means that almost 50,000 natives have the disease.

SAVED LIFE OF BROTHER

By Giving Quart of His Blood—Remarkable Operation at General Hospital

THE YOUNG MEN SURVIVE

And the Amputation of the Leg of Norman Allen Is Also Avoided

PRECAUTIONS ARE TAKEN

And Sixty or Seventy Doctors Watched Rare Operation in Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 9.—One afternoon recently at the General Hospital a number of doctors had presented to them a "recovered patient" who stands unique in the record of medical science in Toronto. Most people have read of the rare and somewhat dangerous operation known as the "transfusion of blood" by which the blood of one person is pumped into the veins of another, but never until the last week has the operation been performed in Toronto. The operation is rare, first because it is not often that there are patients with the peculiar conditions that require such drastic treatment, and second, because it can only be performed when the patient has a friend who is willing to risk his life for him. In this case this sacrifice was offered by the patient's brother, who knowing the risks and counting the cost, displayed by his act a fraternal affection as beautiful as any told in story or legend.

Severed Main Artery

The patient was a young man from Setton, Ont., near Lake Simcoe, named Norman Allen, who while working in an ice house with a chisel but a sharp instrument used in chiselling ice, had the misfortune to gash his leg below the knee, severing the main artery and losing a tremendous amount of blood. The wound was treated at the hospital, and for a while the patient seemed to be doing well, but the hemorrhages recurred and his system was so depleted of the vital fluid that his life was despaired of. It looked as if it would be impossible to get the wound in the leg to heal and the surgeons knew that the patient could not afford to lose any more blood on his account. Even the drastic treatment of amputation was precluded because the young man had already had his resistance so lowered that he was not a fit subject for the operation.

So the men of science were in a dilemma, and the patient appeared to have a very slim chance of recovery, indeed. And then, as a last, desperate resource, it was decided to attempt to restore to the devitalized system by the transfusion of fresh blood.

When the Rosenheim case was opened to-day, Justice O'Gorman announced that by consent of attorneys for both sides Juror No. 7 has been excused.

Court officers tried to keep the affair quiet, so that it would have no influence on the other Rosenheim jurors, and it was only when Yeandle and Timon doffer were arraigned in the Tombs court that the facts became known.

BOONE TO REGULATE AIRSHIPS

Iowa City Considers Speed Ordinance and May Erect Municipal Aerial Station

Boone, Ia., Nov. 9.—Ald. B. P. Hoist to-night introduced in the city council an ordinance regulating the speed of airships over the city and providing for a municipal aerial station in Boone.

He said the Boone Commercial association had interested capital to construct a plant here.

The council will back a movement to establish a school of instruction in the operation and management of air craft. The ordinance was given its first reading and will be passed with a few amendments.

Move Inmates.

An effort is being made to place the one hundred and forty inmates of the Brandon asylum, who were left homeless by the big fire that destroyed the building, in the new asylum at Ponoka.

The new asylum has been under construction for three years, and a portion of it may be used for the patients. The Hon. A. T. McLean, provincial secretary, said that the government would make arrangements for the care of the patients either in the new asylum or elsewhere.

wounds. Both arms were carefully shaved and bathed and re-bathed in antiseptic and germicidal fluids. The instruments employed had previously been boiled and also subjected to chemical preparation. Every cloth and bandage had been carefully sterilized by heat, so that no germ could remain thereon. The chief surgeon and his assistants wore long white sterilized gowns over their clothes, special caps on their heads, and their mouths were covered with gauze, so that not the slightest trace of disease, actual or potential, should reach the open wound. And, in order that assistance might be made doubly sure, the operator's hands were washed and soaked in germicidal fluids and then kept covered with thin rubber gloves.

Watched the Brother

A skilled medical man watched the young man who was giving up his blood to his brother, noting the action of his heart the while, that there should be no collapse or disaster. And there, while these scores of men of science looked on with almost bated breath, brother gave up almost a quart of blood to brother, risking disease and death itself that the bond of kinship might be proved indissoluble in this life. And so successful was the operation that the young man who volunteered for operation, has left the hospital in good condition, whilst his sick brother seems on the high road to recovery. He will doubtless retain his leg, which, it is interesting to note in this connection, had been prepared for amputation before arrangements had been made for the transfusion of blood.

Near-Miracles

It is only when some such disturbed operation as that just described is performed that the layman wakes up to the fact that near-miracles are common occurrences in modern surgical practice. And to Harvey must go unlimited praise for the persevering genius which discovered the fact that the heart acts as a great pump forcing blood to circulate to all parts of the system and therefore supplying all its tissues with nutrition.

McCURDY WILL FLY.

(Continued from page 1)

capable of making about thirty knots speed, patrol the course to be followed by McCurdy in his flight. It is probable that one destroyer will remain about twenty miles out, while the other will proceed further to sea.

Glasgow "Y" Man Here.

Mr. Andrew Bell secretary of the Central Y. M. C. A., Glasgow, arrived in the city last evening in company with Mr. J. W. Ward secretary of Edmonton Y. M. C. A., from the convention recently held in Toronto.

Mr. Bell was very enthusiastic about the convention at which thousands gathered from all over the world, the North American delegation predominated, proving that work of the association in Canada was making every progress. He expressed himself as much pleased with the work of the association in the west.

The association of which Mr. Bell is secretary is the oldest in the world having been founded in 1841; it now has a membership of 7,000 scattered all over the sky.

Mr. Bell leaves for the east this morning.

TIMBER RIGHTS DO NOT INCLUDE HAY

Mr. Justice Stuart So Decided in Judgment in Supreme Court Case

Mr. Justice Stuart awarded Peter McPhee $400 in his claim against Dan Baker for appropriating to his own use hay cut by McPhee in 1909 on timber belt 1022, along the McLeod River leased by Dr. McInnis. In giving judgment Judge Stuart effectively settled the question as to who retains claim to the hay on a timber lease, or whether the government's Heretofore custom has upheld the lumberman in his claim to the timber land and hay, but Judge Stuart ruled that his rights are confined to timber and do not extend to possession of the soil or the cutting of the hay.

The case is a most interesting and far reaching one in view of the rash of settlers and the increasing demand for feed for horses and cattle.

Judge Stuart took some time in summing up the case but his mind was made up and he stated his decision in a manner firm but impartial.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, hoarseness, throat and lungs.

SEEKS HEAVEN; WIRE BREAKS

Actor Made Up as Rockefeller Falls and Says "They Wouldn't Let Me In."

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 9.—Jacques Kreuger, with the "Follies of 1910," company at the Detroit Opera house, made an ostensible ascension to heaven by means of a wire, which broke when he was high in the flies.

He was made up like John D. Rockefeller and was supposed to go to heaven and return in a hurry with the remark: "They wouldn't let me in."

When the wire broke Kreuger returned in a hurry. One leg was broken, but his nerve was not shattered.

"They wouldn't let me in," he said, and the audience applauded while he writhed in pain.

"If I had landed on my head they'd have had to let me in that time," he remarked at the hospital.

Can You Ask More?

We are so confident that we can furnish relief for indigestion and dyspepsia that we promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to every one who uses it according to directions who is not perfectly satisfied with the results. We exact no promises and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely nothing could be fairer. We are located here where you live, and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one who is troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia to come to our store and get a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home, and give them reasonable trial, according to directions. They are very pleasant to take; they soothe the irritable stomach, strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, promote a healthy natural bowel action, almost immediately relieve nausea and stomachic irritation, produce healthy digestion and assimilation, and promote sleep. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and 75c. Remedies only at the Rexall A. Archibald.

BUY IN

North Jasper Place

NOW

Not when all West End property has advanced to two or three times its present value, as it undoubtedly will in the Spring.

Take a look at the city map and see if you can duplicate prices anywhere else in the City, then call and secure as many lots as you can handle.

They are Money Makers
Lots $100 to $150 each
$10.00 Down and $10.00 per month.

McEACHERN BROS.
Phone 2023 324 Japer East

Why, What Delicious Tea!

"Do you mind telling me what kind it is?" not at all. I always use it. It is

BLUE RIBBON TEA.

That is not a make-believe conversation. It shows why the use of Blue Ribbon Tea spreads. Try it. If you don't find it perfectly satisfactory your grocer will promptly refund your money.

MAN LAUGHS 12 HOURS: ELECTRICITY STOPS HIM

Mule Trade Provokes Mirth of Hoosier and Doctors Work Desperately to Make Him Cease Chuckling

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Nov. 9.—Trading a mule for a "shavel tail" horse appeared to the humor of S. H. Schrap of this city and he began laughing. He laughed for an hour, with the tears rolling down his cheeks and still he didn't stop. His friends, becoming alarmed, summoned a physician, but the physician couldn't stop the hearty "ha, ha."

When six hours had passed and Schrap was still convulsed with laughter, another physician was called and still the horse trader's merriment ruled. Schrap was proclaimed the champion marathon laughter, but that didn't stop him and an electric battery was brought into play.

Just as the merry laugh had sounded out twelve hours, the trader was given a heavy electric shock, the "ha, ha" ceased and Schrap fell over exhausted. It was thought for a time he would die, but today he shows no ill effects from the long laugh.

Aged Man Dies Laughing.
Udgate, Wis., Nov. 9.—Edward Bousingham, 70 years old, laughed so violently today that he died of heart failure. He was amused at a newspaper story alleged to be an interview with Prof. Ross of the University of Wisconsin on the future of women.

WOMAN COP'S FIRST ARREST

Mrs. Wells, Los Angeles Policewoman, Has Proprietor of Moving Picture Show Fined.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, the first policewoman in this part of the country, has made her first real arrest.

The person who has the distinction of being the first real prisoner of the first woman policeman was A. Weinstein, proprietor of a moving picture show. Patrolman Wells charged Weinstein with displaying placards and posters which were in violation of the city ordinances. The man was fined $5.

In Buying Your Automobile Don't Make the Mistake

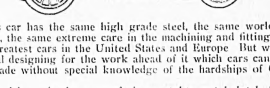

Of sending your money out of Canada when you can get better value for less money here at home.

A third of the money you must spend for a car made out of the country goes to the customs.

True—You may get a good car (if you select carefully) but you cannot get a higher grade, up-to-date, more desirable car in any way than the Russell, no matter what you pay for it.

The quality of the Russell and its value may astonish you when it comes home to you for the first time, but remember that among all high grade makers in America and Europe the Russell's position as one of the leading cars of the world is as commonly known and acknowledged as any fact connected with the automobile business.

Russell "30" $2350 SPECIALLY EQUIPPED

This car has the same high grade steel, the same world-famous bearings, the same extreme care in the machining and fitting of parts as the greatest cars in the United States and Europe. But with these is special designing for the work ahead of it which cars cannot have when made without special knowledge of the hardships of Canadian roads.

Shaft, drive, selective transmission, metal-to-metal clutch, full floating type of rear axle. Wheel base, 115 inches. Wheels 34x4-inch front and rear. Engine rated at 30 horsepower gives an actual 30. Choice of four fine new bodies, including regular, roomy five-passenger touring. May we send you our new catalog?

CANADA CYCLE AND MOTOR CO., LTD.

Makers of High Grade Automobiles, West Toronto

(Representatives, SCOTT BROT & HART)

Branches: Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver, you pay for it.

To Pay Rent is a Waste of Money—Own Your Own Home

We Lend Money to Build on Small Payments

B.C. Permanent Loan Company

Bulldozers to your order—in reach of all.

Kirkpatrick and Pate,

116 McDougall Avenue Phone 129

Advertise in the Daily Capital

The CONQUEST OF CANAAN

By BOOTH TARKINGTON
Author of "The American Democracy," etc.

Copyright, 1905, by Harper & Brothers

Like the background of an antique portrait, the old, with its dusty corners and shelves and hideous safe, had vanished, leaving the charming and thoughtful face revealed against an even, spacious brownness. Only Ariel and the lamp were clear, and a strange, small pain in the heart of Joe's heart to his throat as he thought that this ugly office, always before so harsh and grim and lonely—loneliest for him when it had been most crowded—was now transfigured into something very, very different from an office; that this place where he sat, with a lamp and flowers on a desk between him and a woman who called him "my dear" must be like—like something that people called "home."

And then he leaned across the desk toward her as he said again what he had said a little while before, and his voice trembled:

"Ariel, it is you?"
She looked at him and smiled.

"You'll be here always, won't you? You're not going away from Canaan again?"

For a moment it seemed that she had not heard him. Then her bright glance at him, warm and joyful, rose, turning slightly away from him, but not so far that he could not see the sudden agitation in her face.

"No," he cried, going too far, "I don't want you to think I don't understand or that I want I should ever ask you to stay here. I couldn't mean that. You know I couldn't, don't you? You know I understand that it's all just your beautiful friendliness, don't you?"

"It isn't beautiful, it's just me, Joe," she said. "It couldn't be any other way."

"It's enough that you should be here now," he went on bravely, his voice steady, though his hand shook. "Nothing so wonderful as your staying could ever actually happen. It's just a light coming into a dark room and out again. One day long ago, I never forgot it, some apple blossoms blew by me as I passed an orchard, and it's like that too. But, oh, my dear, when you go you'll leave a fragrance in my heart that will last!"

She turned toward him, her face suffused with a rosy light. "Would rather have died than have said that to me once," she cried. "I'm glad you're weak enough now to confess it!"

He sank down again into the chair, and his arms fell heavily on the desk. "Confess it?" he cried despairingly. "And you don't deny that you're going away again—so it's true? I wish I hadn't realized it so soon. I think I'd rather have tried to fool myself about it."

"Joe," she cried in a voice of great pain, "you mustn't feel like that! How do you know I'm going away again? Why should I want the old house put in order unless I mean to stay? And if I want you know that I could never change. You know how I've always loved you!"

"Yes," he said, "I do know how. It was always the same, and it always will be, won't it?"

"I've shown that," she returned quickly.

"Yes. You say I know how you've cared for me, and I do. I know how. It's just in one certain way—Jonathan and David!"

"Isn't that a pretty good way, Joe?" "Never fear that I don't understand!" He got to his feet again and looked at her steadily.

"Thank you, Joe," she wiped sudden tears from her eyes.

"Don't you be sorry for me," he said. "Do you think that 'passing the love of women' isn't enough for me?"

"No," she answered humbly.

"I'll have people at work on the old house tomorrow," he began. "And for the—"

"I've kept you so long!" she interrupted, helped to a meek sort of gaiety by his matter of fact tone. "Good night, Joe." She gave him her hand and a shabby little man ran furiously into the room, shut the door behind him and set his back against it. His face was mottled like a colored wall, thick lines of perspiration shining across the spotches.

"Joe," he panted, "I've got Nashville good, and he's got me good too. I got to clear out. He's fixed me good, but he won't trouble nobody!"

Joe was across the room like a flying star.

"Quiet!" His voice rang like a shot; and on the instant his hand fell sharply across the speaker's mouth. "In there, Happy!"

He threw an arm across the little man's shoulders and swung him toward the door of the other room.

Happy Fear looked up from beneath the down bent brim of his black slouch hat. His eyes followed an imperious gesture toward Ariel, and gave her a brief, ghastly stare and stumbled into the inner chamber.

"Wait!" Joe said curtly to Ariel.

He went in quickly after Mr. Fear and closed the door.

This was Joseph London, attorney at law. And to Ariel it was like a new face seen in a flash-light—not at all the face of Joe. The sense of his strangeness, his unfamiliarity, in this clerical respect, overcame her. She was possessed by astonishment. Did she know him so well after all? The strange client had burst in shabby but with belief with some passion unknown to her, but Joe, alert and masterful beyond denial, had controlled him instantly, had swept him into the other room as with a broom. Could it be that Joe sometimes did other things in the same sweeping fashion? She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

She heard a match struck in the next room and the voices of the two men—Joe's, then the other's, the latter at first broken and protestive, but soon rising shrilly. She heard her client cry, almost scream, "Joe, I thought Claudine had closed him around there!"

O YES, WE'RE FROM MISSOURI, WE ARE

And You've Got to Show Us—It's Lovely to See Yourself Sometimes

Published as a special despatch from Edmonton under the date of October 29th there appeared in the Ontario News Tribune in conjunction with a photograph of J. McKay Dickson, the story of that gentleman's refusal to pay his taxes to the city of Edmonton, on account of his charge of illegal appropriation of money, in the council's action in granting $10,000 to the Board of Trade.

The item in question terms Mr. Dickson as being one of the heaviest taxpayers in the city and one of the richest men in this part of Canada.

"Therefore Edmonton expects to see things hum," says the article, "The attitude taken by Mr. Dickson is highly typical of the way things are done in the Northwest. This is not a country of plavay, but of action; and one of the swiftest movers is Dickson, when he gets started."

The article goes on to credit Mr. Dickson as the being responsible for most of the legislation that Alberta has to be thankful for in the way of governmental subsidies, and also for the way in which he sees to the proper civic management of Edmonton.

In conclusion, Mr. Dickson was represented as saying that he would not stop until either the $10,000 was placed back in the city treasury, or else the privy council decides against him. His attorneys are now supposed to be preparing for the litigation.

Mr. Dickson is at present in Detroit.

RESIGNED AS PROTEST

As a protest against the action of the Childrens Aid Home society, content for the supervision of neglected children, in placing a trained nurse in the home in charge of several sick children, Sergeant Webb and Mrs. Webb who have for over a year been in charge of the home in this city, have resigned.

When the sickness broke out the other day the society placed a trained nurse in charge but their action brought an immediate protest from Mr. and Mrs. Webb.

District Court

A charge was preferred yesterday in the District Court at North Edmonton against Marion and Arthur James by Dorothy Stuart and Marion Armstrong of stealing toilet articles and other things from Dorothy Stuart.

The case is the result of a seizure made supposedly for arrears of rent of the two defendants in their goods to the amount of $15 were taken. The trial was continued this morning.

E. B. Cogswell represented the Crown and H. H. Robertson the defence.

Look for the Dog on Every Record

His Master's Voice

ADVANCE

VICTOR RECORDS

(NOW ON SALE) FOR DECEMBER (NOW ON SALE)

Here are some attractive novelties from the new list:

STANDARD RECORDS
5795—"Night Brings the Stars and You."
5799—"Play That Barber Shop Chord."

RED SEAL RECORDS
New MELBA Records
Seventeen special selections by the world's Queen of Song.
$3.00 each

PURPLE LABEL
New LAUDER Records
60006—"A Trip to Inverary."
10 inch, 80c. each

10 INCH DOUBLE-FACED RECORDS
16729—"Pretty Baby and Susan"
Fryer's Band
"Yucatan Man" Collins and Harlan

Hear these records at the nearest dealer's. Write for free catalogue of our 3,000 records.

Berliner Gram-o-phone Company Limited - Montreal
SOLD IN U.S.A. BY VICTOR TALKING MACHINE CO.

DISPUTE IS OVER HAY FROM BIG EDDY

Supreme Court Case Asks Rights of Hay Cutting on Timber Berths

Twenty-five tons of hay, cut on the Dutch Flats south of the Big Eddy on the McLeod River was the subject of litigation at the Supreme court this morning. During the summer of 1909 Wm. McPhee, anticipating high prices for hay along the G.T.P. track decided to cut along the McLeod River. Going to the Edmonton land office he acquired a permit to cut on the Dutch Flats. While the permit was issued for only 25 tons he was instructed that if he exceeded that amount he would be allowed to settle on timber in his report. He was informed that he had to cut down for a while it was a severe pain in the left side. Every morning when I would go out and I had to sit down for a while it was a severe pain. After I had used Burdock Blood Bitters the pain disappeared completely. It has also cured me of bleeding piles. I have received so much benefit from Burdock Blood Bitters that you may publish this as it may help others as it has me.

Manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

J. RUFUS WALLINGFORD PROMOTES OPERA HOUSE

Well-Known Financier Welcomed by South Dakota Villagers, Who Give Options and Cash Checks.

Huron S. D., Nov. 9.—Astute business of Huron are becoming the fact that they did not refer to "Who's who in finance last week when J. Rufus Wallingford came to town. Citizens of the village have dreamed of a brightly lighted and gilded opera house long and longingly.

A few days ago a stranger, in impressive and mysterious came to town. He said he represented the Shuberts, made a small deposit at the bank and got the biggest check book he could find. He signed himself at the hotel register as J. Rufus Wallingford.

Some one in the village had heard that name before. It was an impressive name, the man was impressive, the townsmen were overjoyed. "J. Rufus" talked business, gave dinner and went duck hunting with local financiers for guides. He also won a few checks before he left town and got them cashed by his financiers.

"J. Rufus Wallingford" is the name signed to wholesale options on opera house sites as well as the checks. Now Huron is shaking S. O. S. signs to the police of the nation to catch Mr. Wallingford, who they have grown to suspect has taken advantage of their hospitality and in whom they place implicit confidence.

Some, unshaken, maintain that this guest imposed upon them and it is not the well-known financier, J. Rufus Wallingford.

Let us fill your prescription. We do it right. The Edmonton Dry Goods Ltd.

Look for the Dog on Every Record

His Master's Voice

ADVANCE

VICTOR RECORDS

(NOW ON SALE) FOR DECEMBER (NOW ON SALE)

Here are some attractive novelties from the new list:

STANDARD RECORDS
5795—"Night Brings the Stars and You."
5799—"Play That Barber Shop Chord."

RED SEAL RECORDS
New MELBA Records
Seventeen special selections by the world's Queen of Song.
$3.00 each

PURPLE LABEL
New LAUDER Records
60006—"A Trip to Inverary."
10 inch, 80c. each

10 INCH DOUBLE-FACED RECORDS
16729—"Pretty Baby and Susan"
Fryer's Band
"Yucatan Man" Collins and Harlan

Hear these records at the nearest dealer's. Write for free catalogue of our 3,000 records.

Berliner Gram-o-phone Company Limited - Montreal
SOLD IN U.S.A. BY VICTOR TALKING MACHINE CO.

Look for the Dog on Every Record

His Master's Voice

ADVANCE

VICTOR RECORDS

(NOW ON SALE) FOR DECEMBER (NOW ON SALE)

Here are some attractive novelties from the new list:

STANDARD RECORDS
5795—"Night Brings the Stars and You."
5799—"Play That Barber Shop Chord."

RED SEAL RECORDS
New MELBA Records
Seventeen special selections by the world's Queen of Song.
$3.00 each

PURPLE LABEL
New LAUDER Records
60006—"A Trip to Inverary."
10 inch, 80c. each

10 INCH DOUBLE-FACED RECORDS
16729—"Pretty Baby and Susan"
Fryer's Band
"Yucatan Man" Collins and Harlan

Hear these records at the nearest dealer's. Write for free catalogue of our 3,000 records.

Berliner Gram-o-phone Company Limited - Montreal
SOLD IN U.S.A. BY VICTOR TALKING MACHINE CO.

Ferns Ferns

All the best varieties—
Asparagus,
Boston
Whitman
Superbissima
Lace Fern.

Any of these will give you good satisfaction.

PRICES 25c to $3.00.

Walter Ramsay

Florist
Greenhouses 936 Victoria Ave.
Phone 1282

THE WEATHER.

Forecast—All west, continued cold weather with light local snow falls. There have been some light scattered snowfalls, but generally the weather in the prairie provinces has been fair. It has been moderately cold, colder in eastern Saskatchewan than elsewhere.

	High.	Low.
Kamloops, clear	54	24
Edmonton, cloudy	22	8
Calgary, cloudy	40	16
Lethbridge, cloudy	50	20
Medicine Hat, snowing	34	22
Battleford, cloudy	22	8
Prince Albert, fair	20	16
Swift Current, fair	28	16
Moose Jaw, cloudy	34	16
Regina, cloudy	30	18
Winnipeg, cloudy	38	22
Port Arthur, cloudy	38	22

ABOUT TOWN.

The trial of Henry Ward, the half-breed who was arrested for passing a bogus cheque was adjourned till Friday at the R.N.W.M.P. barracks.

Mr. A. A. Nixon, 351 Sutherland street, will receive on Friday, November 11th, for the first time since coming to Edmonton and afterwards on second Wednesdays of the month.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held in the parlors of the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This being the first meeting after "Conversion" a large attendance is requested.

An art exhibition of Miss Campbell's work will be held at the Imperial shoe shop on Friday and Saturday, November 11th and 12th. This will include sketches and paintings done in England and Paris and a collection of decorated china.

Mr. Robert C. Grant, caretaker of the Telephone Building, wishes to thank all the members of the Masonic fraternity and craftsmen of the stone cutters' union, also the city police and telephone department for their assistance and many expressions of sympathy in his recent bereavement by the death of his nephew, Mr. Louis C. White, who was accidentally killed at the court house last Friday.

Charged with issuing a forged cheque, Henry Ward a half breed, is now in the R.N.W.M.P. guard room waiting for his preliminary trial tomorrow. Last Saturday Ward passed a cheque for $5 at J. H. Morris and Co's. store on Jasper. The cheque was signed with the name Eccles and it was thought to be genuine until presented at the bank yesterday. The city police were sent for with the result that Ward was arrested in the market square.

A want ad in the Daily Capital will be repeated a few times, and that long hunt for work, and put "pay-day" on your calendar again.

HOW WE FILL PRESCRIPTIONS

Your prescription will be filled here exactly as the doctor prescribes it by a competent, registered Pharmacist. Furthermore, the ingredients used will always be of the highest standard of purity and guaranteed to you.

Our years of practical experience, combined with our modern facilities enables us to give you orders the attention they should have.

Whenever you want anything in a hurry from the Drug Store phone 1550 and we will deliver it to you quickly.

EDMONTON DRUG CO.

154 JASPER EAST

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. W. Martin, of Calgary, inspector of Dominion land agencies, is a guest at the King Edward.

J. W. Ward, secretary of the Edmonton Y. M. C. A., returned last night from Toronto where he has been attending the International Y. M. C. A. conference.

Mrs. Godfrey Cook, suite No. 28, The Arlington, will receive Thursday, November 10th for the first time this season and afterwards on the first Wednesday of each month.

Married at the Manse, Fourth street, by the Rev. Dr. McQueen on Friday evening November 4th, 1910, Rhoda Myrtle, daughter of J. S. Pritchard of Vermilion, to Ernest Richard Hoskins, of Melton, Sask., publisher of the Carrot River Journal.

CHAIN OF EVIDENCE.

(Continued from Page One)

afternoon, the hearing of the charge of murder against Clark Woods was continued, and the first witness to take the stand was E. A. Marshall, resident engineer of the G. T. P., who had been in charge of a G.T.P. camp situated half a mile from Murray's camp on August 31st of this year, the date upon which Mr. Murray met his death. Marshall was an eyewitness of the blow which Woods dealt to Murray with a whisky bottle partly full of liquor and his account of the incident was simple and convincing.

"I drove Mr. Murray," said the witness, "to a borrow pit on the grade where his men were working. On our way we met the accused and four other men. Shortly after our arrival at the borrow pit, Woods and the four men arrived at the pit. I was sitting in the buggy about thirty feet away from where Murray was standing. I saw Woods go up to him and say: 'Pay me $50 or I will rap you over the head with this bottle.' He was carrying the bottle in his hand at this time."

"Murray replied: 'I can't pay you, boy, your money is in the camp if you will go for it.'"

"Woods said: 'You pay me or—'

"Murray replied: 'You can't scare me.'"

"After Murray had said this, Woods turned to the men who were with him and said: 'What shall I do, boys?'

"One of them answered: 'Get your money, boy, that's what you came for, isn't it?'

Saw the Blow Struck.

"Woods then dealt Murray a low sweeping blow with the butt end of the bottle, holding it by the neck. He did not raise his arm above his head. He held his arm by his side at the commencement of the blow and struck in an upward direction. Murray immediately fell to the ground and was unconscious for about a minute."

The witness went on to say that he thought that Woods was going to hit Murray again and that he said to the prisoner:

"Don't hit him again."

Mr. Marshall then paid Woods $50 saying: "There's your money."

Woods replied: "That's all I want—the money."

At this point Mr. McGillivray objected when Mr. Crawford put a bottle into the hand of the witness, who said that it was similar in all respects to the bottle with which the blow had been struck and which had been thrown into the Red Deer river.

Marshall was asked to step down from the stand and J. S. Pritchard, one of the men who had accompanied Woods to the spot where the blow had been struck, gave evidence to the effect that the bottle which Woods used had been thrown into the river in his presence.

Continuing, Mr. Marshall said: "That Murray got up, lit a cigar, finished a conversation with one of his men which he had been engaged upon before Woods struck him, and that the five men walked away."

Cross examined by Mr. McGillivray the witness said that three of the men carried clubs, but they were not more than an inch and a half in diameter. The witness did not think that the men expected to meet Murray where they did and when they did, in fact, he did not think that they knew that Murray was coming to the place. He did not hear every word of the conversation which passed between Woods and Murray, although he concluded from the way in which they were talking that there was some disagreement going on between them. He never thought when he drove Mr. Murray back to Alex that he would die or that there would be any question of murder in the matter. He thought that he had just got a rap on the head, which would not prove fatal.

And so, for the first time during the trial, the court obtained the straight story of an eyewitness to what occurred, when Murray received a blow from the prisoner. But this story was not the only one. There were several others to the same effect. J. S. Pritchard, one of the sub-contractors, who was at the Crown camp, was also present. He also saw the blow struck. He also heard Woods say to Murray: "I will rap you over the head with this bottle," but he did not hear the altercation between Murray and Woods. In cross-examination this witness stated likewise that he did not think that the men came for the purpose of making an attack on Murray, or that they knew that he was on the spot.

Companions Called.

Three of the men who were with Woods when he struck the blow were then called. Carl Johnson, F. Johnson and F. Satter, and their account of the incident was substantially the same as the statements of the preceding witnesses. They repeated that they had heard nothing of an organized attack on Murray and that they did not know that they were going to meet him.

And so, the Crown established, beyond the possibility of a doubt, the fact that Hector Murray was struck a blow on the temple by Woods.

Mr. Crawford then proceeded to carry the story a little farther by calling T. Sharkey, one of the partners of the dead man, who had seen Mr. Murray at 6.30 on the same evening and who had driven him into Alex where he left him with his wife. At that time when Mr. Murray descended from the rig to go into the hotel, he could not speak, and he was foaming at the mouth.

The evidence of this witness concluded all the evidence regarding the blow which the prosecution claim was the cause of Murray's death and the cause for the Crown called Dr. Graham who had made the autopsy upon the body of the dead man.

Dr. Graham could not be found for the moment and Dr. Donovan, Stetler, Dr. Parsons, Red Deer and Dr. Frank of Settler were placed on the stand. All these medical men stated that in their opinion Hector Murray died from the effects of a blow on the temple which caused a clot of blood to form on the brain and which also ruptured an artery. The brain of the dead man was produced in court and exhibited to the jury while the doctors illustrated their various points by showing the position of the blood clot in the gray matter. Dr. Frank was the last witness and when he left the stand at 5 o'clock the court adjourned until this morning.

So far the defence had not been revealed except to a certain extent when Mr. McGillivray was anxious to ask the various doctors what course they would have adopted to save the life of Mr. Murray if the case had been in their hands or rather what course they would have taken if a similar case had come before them.

Those questions were disallowed by the judge who intimated that he was not prepared to listen to the suggestion, if it was put forward that the medical attention which had been received by Mr. Murray had been deficient.

Large stock of Royal Crown derby just arrived. Ash Bros.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY.

LOST—A SMALL WHITE TOM CAT; two dark ears, two dark spots on one side and black tail. Return to 445 Isabella street and receive reward.

AFTER DEC. 1ST A NURSE would like a position as assistant in doctor's office or private work in Edmonton. Best references. Address 343 14th Ave. West, Calgary. 9-121

AUCTION SALE

in our rooms,
341 NAMAYO AVENUE.
On Thursday, November 10th, at 7.30. When the following goods will be sold:

- 1 Kitchen Range.
- 1 Iron Cook Stove.
- 2 Heaters.
- 1 Iron Brass Mounted Bids, Mattresses and springs, dressers and stands.
- 2 Sideboards.
- 1 Upholstered in plush.
- 1 Davenport upholstered in velvet.
- 2 Folding Couches.
- 2 Parlor Couches.
- 1 Parlor Suite upholstered in silk velvet.
- 1 Round solid oak dining table.
- 2 8-ft extension dining tables.
- 1 Kitchen Tables and Chairs.
- 1 Solid Oak Hall rack.
- 1 Combination writing desk and bookcase.
- 1 Sewing machine.
- 1 Child's cradle.
- 1 Parlor pool table.
- 1 Counter coming scale.
- 1 Plush table spread, cost $25.00.
- 2 Refrigerators.
- 1 Sofa pillows, 1 Wilton carpet, large.
- 1 Large quantity of bed clothes, etc.
- 1 Linoleum.

NAMAYO TRADING CO.
341 Namayo Ave. Phone 1028
NOTE—Goods bought for fixed cash price or sold on commission. Phone 1028

NEAR OR FAR

No matter where you live, whether you live within a stone's throw of our plant, or 500 miles away, on railway. We send of getting your work to us without it costing you a postal card, letter or telephone message giving the order. Price card and shipping tags are free for the asking.

CARL HENNINGSEN'S DYE WORKS
406 Fraser Ave. Phone 1728
12 Whyte Ave. W. 3316

FURS

Secure on your side our long experience. We are here to satisfy the public and to become one of Edmonton's permanent institutions.

Exclusive Models
Furs Made up to Order
Repairs

ALEXANDER-HILPERT
FUR CO., LTD.
McLean Block
609 Jasper W. Phone 4094

DECEMBER 1st, 1910.

To all points in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. THREE MONTHS LIMIT

EXTENSION PRIVILEGES. Steamship Tickets to all Old Country Points via All Lines

Make your reservations now. If you intend sailing before Christmas. For full particulars apply to J. F. PHILP

City Passenger Agent
150 Jasper Ave. E. Edmonton. Phone 802

Do Your BUYING by Phone

The following Edmonton Business Houses will be very pleased to receive and execute very promptly all orders by Telephone.

CONFECTIONERY The Reason DODGE'S BREAD Is on top is because he has got his old original baker back into harness once more. Phone 1359 235 JASPER W.	OYSTERS. OLYMPIA AND EASTERN Oyster Cocktails, Fried Oysters, Oysters any Style. POST OFFICE CAFE "Always at Home" Phone 4225 125 Jasper East
REAL ESTATE JASPER PLACE Edmonton's Future Fashionable Residential Property WATSON &amp; CO. Real Estate Agents 120 Jasper West Phone 1359	JEWELER EXPERT WATCH REPAIRING JACKSON BROS. Marriage Licenses Issued Phone 3717 Jasper Cor. Queen's
CLEANERS. PHONE 4232 LEADER CLEANING WORKS Orders of all kinds of Suits and Gowns called for and delivered. Free repairing and re-modeling a specialty. All work given personal attention. WM. BLAKE, Prop. 420 and 422 Second Street	PLUMBERS Phone 1947 KEMP &amp; SON Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating Prompt Attention Given to Repairing Estimates Carefully Furnished 224 Namayo Ave. "GRAVING" SEND US YOUR FILMS "ENOUGH SAID" BRYON-MAY COMPANY, LTD. Howard and Elizabeth St.

The YALE HOTEL

EDMONTON
Robt. McDonald, Prop
Rate $2.00 a day
Rooms with Bath, $2.50. Men's Ticket, $8.00. Monthly Table Board, $30.00.

(Mrs. T. Craig, Brookhouse; Jomald E. Triwin, Lloydminster; C. W. Fisher, Cochrane; R. G. Vanclocher, Painted Post; L. H. Corbett, Calgary; J. C. Oliver, New Douglas; J. W. Bell, city; L. Turner, city; Annie Wastland, city; J. C. Cragg, Virden; Miss Overman, Waskeswin; W. Chamberlain, Waskeswin; G. E. Rin, Waskeswin.)

Overcoats

—and—
Fur Coats

The Great and the Near Great
The first step have a good Photograph by a recognised Artist.

Studio open Wednesday & Saturday evenings until ten o'clock.

Burke Studio
308 Jasper E.

ALL PRICES
STYLES
In every pattern and weave of cloth that is new and correct.

Every Fit Guaranteed at
AITKEN & FULTON
404 Namayo Avenue

Hop's Bee Hi
Candies fresh Every Day
Ice Cream and Fruits
Phone 4102

Wanted to Buy
Anything in Real Estate

DO YOU WANT TO
State lot number, location and price to P.O. Box

Tonight is Your Last Chance to see

Buffalo Bill's Wild West

and Pawnee Bill's Far East Shows

Don't Miss It!

"Orpheum Family Theatre"

It's Your Last Opportunity!

(Entire change of programme Tomorrow and Friday)

Northern Investment Agency Limited
21 Jasper W. Phone 2686